1. Regarding the attached request from [REDACTED] we have checked all available records here and find nothing that corresponds to the reports he describes.

2. There was originally some question as to whether a request of this nature should be sent to you or should be channeled through the OCD procurement system. We decided that since we cannot identify by title, date, etc., any of the needed material, a request through normal channels would probably be unproductive and at best would involve considerable delay.

3. Would appreciate your assistance in this matter; also your advice as to the best method of handling requests of this nature.
